Do you have memories of finding hidden treasures of trinkets and pressed flower petals? Know of a place with a cozy house holding pretty, vintage details, framed by common blooms? Be it at grandma's or in our imagination, I think we all can feel reminiscent of timeless motifs stitched together by a bit of thread. Flower Patches is a collection of wild color pops with the familiar shapes of daisies, pansies, roses, and tulips. The designs flow through spaces of nostalgia and wonder. I am forever interested in abstracting the beautiful and making space for the playful. Flower Patches feels free, shines positivity, and welcomes the eye to meander through varied plots of deep tones. It's made to feel instantly approachable, yet hold a touch of mystery — both welcoming the young at heart.
